

A region Open to Diversity

Lanaudière is a region that offers a host of varied career opportunities while also providing an environment conducive to educational and recreational development, as well as privileged access to property at the most competitive prices.

Main Business Sectors

- Agri-food (3rd leading agricultural area in the province of Québec)
- Plant bioproducts
- Manufacturing: wood, paper, furniture, metal compounds, rubber, plastics, clothing
- Construction materials
- Residential and commercial construction
- Tourism

Post-secondary Education Opportunities

- More than 60 college programs
- 20 university programs
- These programs are designed in accordance to the needs of the Lanaudière job market

With its long history of immigration, the Lanaudière region values “harmonious living” and the ever-growing diversity of its cultural communities. Lanaudière is home to people from countries like Haiti, Algeria, France, Morocco, Cameroon, Tunisia, Columbia, Mexico, Italy, the USA, and Moldavia among others.

In short, with its varied settings providing numerous advantages and opportunities, Lanaudière has everything to please: In the north, unspoiled nature dominates with its vast forests and protected wild areas. Alongside this pristine natural setting, this area is also noted for its tourism, mining, and forestry industries. More to the south, the forests give way to a huge agricultural plain. This area is a leader in the bio-food industry. Finally, the southernmost region, only a few minutes from Montreal, is Lanaudière’s most urbanized area.
